STRANGE AND TERRIBLE DISEASE.—Patterson, New Jersey, is afflicted with a remarkable disease, which has proved fatal to all who have been attacked with it. It has been treated for scarlet fever, but it is attended with many strange symptoms which make it appear something out of the ordinary list of diseases. The victims have holes eaten through their throats, and after death, which has invariably followed a few days' suffering, the bodies have grown black.

Personal.

We had the pleasure of a call, this morning, from Mr. J. C. Kimball. He is a brother of Messrs. H. I. Kimball and E. N. Kimball, and has permanently selected Atlanta as his home. He will superintend the construction of the Fair Ground buildings under Mr. H. I. Kimball's contract.

A Card.

The undersigned begs to inform his friends in different parts of the State, who are members of the State Agricultural Society, that self-respect requires a withdrawal of his name as a candidate for the office of Secretary of that Society.

☞ We admire the pluck and spirit of THE ATLANTA CONSTITUTION, which has recently been sued for libel by the "Hon." Rufus B. Bullock, Governor of Georgia, who lays his damages at $25,000. THE CONSTITUTION refuses to be butted from the track by the rash animal, and continues to discharge hot shot, cannister, musket balls, squibbs, and a promiscuous fusillade of all sorts of missiles, at its vulnerable flanks. Lynchburg Republican.

Woodhull & Chaflin's Weekly.

We have received the second number of this New York Weekly, published by Victoria C. Woodhull and Tennie C. Chaflin. It is a new organ of the woman enfranchisement movement, makes an exceedingly handsome appearance, and appears to be edited with spirit and ability. As one of the "signs of the times," it is remarkable.

The Baltimore Gazette vs. Bullock.

The following scathing and touching editorial appears in the Baltimore Gazette, of the 21st. For directness and total disregard of the Bullock "Bull" recently published about prospective and infinite $25,000 libel suits, etc., it fairly takes the wind out of the sails of the most gallant of Southern man-of-war journals. With bated breath, we watch the result of this contest between the Gladiator of the Monumental City and the Bullock of the Empire State, but we are nevertheless willing to stake our $25,000 (reserved libel fund) upon the Baltimore Gladiator, and risk the chances. Should we lose the stake, what a nice little $50,000 sugar plum our industrious and meritorious King B. would fall heir to!

Thus the Gazette of the 21st instant, says:

Bullock, styling himself Governor of the State, or Territory, or District of Georgia, has, as the public knows, been a great deal in Washington during the winter endeavoring to secure a perpetuation of his own power and that of the corrupt and subservient Legislature there with which he is in league. Congress was open to conviction, and took steps inactive of its perfect willingness to reconstruct Georgia, although the latter had been reconstructed by that body once before. But somehow or other there has been a hitch in the business. Bullock cannot get his projects put into actual operation. He has worked hard, and his agents have been equally active. People have been puzzling themselves to know why the Georgia affair was not settled one way or another long ago. It looks now as if we were getting towards a solution of the mystery. This man Bullock, and those most closely associated with him, have never been connected with anything but some small business or other in their lives. Consequently they are men of rather contracted ideas, especially about pecuniary matters. With them a little money has always gone a great way. Morever, the atmosphere of Washington is new, and the habits and ways of the place are strange to them. Therefore they went pottering about, offering a thousand dollars apiece for Senatorial votes. The committee appointed to investigate the rumors which were afloat in reference to their proceedings reported on Thursday that a man named Porter had offered to give a thousand dollars for the vote of Senator Carpenter, and that one Gibbs had informed a nephew of Senator Tipton that he would give a thousand dollars rather than see that Senator's vote wrong. D. C. Forney, of the Chronicle, admitted having received from Bullock three or four thousand dollars, which he got, however, strictly in the way of business. He produced his accounts, and several practical printers testified that they were "exorbitant." Other developments were made, proving that Bullock and his gang were using money for corrupt purposes. No doubt, in his lamentable ignorance of the manner in which public affairs are now conducted, he thought he was doing the right thing. But he knew not. this poor carpet-bagger, that he was in a place where Senators and Representatives from a few thousands a year accumulate hundreds of thousands in a single session of Congress; that he was dealing with legislators who had constantly before their eyes heavy land grants, enormous dividends of railroad stock and large shares in Indian and other contracts; that he was, therefore, among men who despised the day of small things. Had not Whittemore been shortly before expelled the House on account of peddling cadetships? But notwithstanding the contempt which Congress had manifested more than once for such piecayune operators, Bullock has kept on dangling about the lobby with his paltry one thousand dollar railroad bonds. The man had, by Congressional favor and in defiance of right, or law, or common decency, been made almost the absolute ruler over the people of Georgia. His principles were of the largest order, and his opportunities for stealing were unbounded. But he had no better sense, after a fair trial, than to approach his benefactors with only one thousand dollars apiece. They were naturally disgusted, and have justly and indignantly exposed him. Having vindicated themselves upon this point, they will now probably send the knave back to govern Georgia.

OUR WASHINGTON LETTER.

A Complete Synopsis of the Georgia Bribery Proof—Rich, Rare and Racy—What the New York Papers Say.

Special Correspondence Atlanta Constitution.]

WASHINGTON, May 20, 1870.

I have just finished reading the evidence, so far as printed, (only the testimony of Bullock is wanting,) before the Senate Judiciary Committee, in relation to the operations here of the Bullock lobby. It fully warrants the report submitted yesterday by Messrs. Trumbull, Edmunds, Conkling, Sherman and Carpenter. Indeed, they might with propriety have used even stronger language than they saw fit to employ.

The evidence and the report fully sustains all that has been said through the press of the operations of the Bullock-Blodgett ring here. No one believed that money had actually been paid any Senator for his vote against the Bingham Amendment, but that money was tendered and efforts were made to influence votes is fully proven.

Messrs. Stewart and Rice dissent from the majority report when it censures Bullock. That was to be expected. Of course Bullock did not himself offer money to Senators. He is too shrewd for that. But he was the one to be benefitted by the defeat of the Bingham Amendment; and that the lobbyists were acting with his knowledge, if not by his authority, there can be no doubt whatever. One Porter, who was to have received $10,000 in bonds from one of the Averys for his services in influencing the vote of Senator Carpenter, and others, admits that he had one or more conversations on the subject, with one or both of the Averys, in Bullock's room at Willard's Hotel, and in Willard's presence.

I subjoin a synopsis of the evidence:

APRIL 19.—Jas. Hughes, lawyer, testified: Was called on by Lewis Porter, assistant postmaster of Washington, who wished me to influence the vote of Senator Carpenter on the Bingham Amendment. He said there was $10,000 in railroad bonds, endorsed by the State of Georgia, to be "put up," which we could divide between us. Hughes communicated the fact to Joshua Hill, and acting on his advice, kept one or more appointments with Porter. Hughes also saw Carpenter and told him the whole story.

Lewis Porter examined—Denied all knowledge of efforts to influence votes of Senators. Had had conversations with Avery twice; knew no one else from Georgia. (Witness flatly contradicted the evidence of Hughes, and prevaricated to such an extent as to put him in a very bad light, considering he was under oath.) Finally, he admitted he did have an appointment with Hughes to see Carpenter. He wanted to employ Hughes as an attorney in the matter. (This, after much cross-questioning.) Had offered a fee of $5,000; did not recollect in what funds; expected to get money from P. J. Avery. Avery came to his office—the Washington Post-office—had also seen him at Willard's; saw him a dozen times. Hughes was to render all the aid he could in defeating the Bingham Amendment for $5,000; had a list of Senators. (Witness here contradicted himself many times.) Saw Bullock and the Averys together. After being subpœnaed had talked with P. J. Avery, who didn't want the matter to come out; consulted a lawyer as to whether he would be obliged to answer the questions of the committee.

H. J. Ramsbell, newspaper correspondent, evidence not material.

APRIL 20.—W. L. Avery, sworn—Never had any conversation with Porter in relation to the Georgia bill; had talked with him of Georgia matters since this investigation; have received $750,000 in bonds from the State of Georgia for the Brunswick and Albany Railroad, and $100,000 for the Cartersville and Van Wert Railroad.

The latter lot of bonds, it appears, were sent here to Bullock to sign, and he told Avery that he had sent them to Henry Clews & Co., New York. At the same time inquiring of Avery whether sufficient work had been done on the road to entitle the company to that amount. This struck the committee as being rather a loose way of doing business! Avery didn't know whether the $100,000 in bonds had been received in New York or not. He said all the bonds received for the Brunswick and Albany road were in Europe; the only bonds received for the Cartersville and Van Wert road was the lot mentioned; he had talked with several Senators and had introduced Rice; would have used any amount of money he could to defeat the Bingham Amendment. Avery's statements about his meeting and talking with Porter were decidedly "fishy."

P. J. Avery sworn—Went to see Porter the day after the Georgia bill passed the House to get his assistance. Had gone to citizens of Wisconsin to see what influence could be brought to bear on their Senator. Did not recollect anything about the $10,000; did say it was worth that to have the Bingham Amendment out of the Georgia bill. It was worth more than that! Had a list of Senators with names checked off; asked about Pratt; also, Howard and Carpenter; had asked twenty men to write letters to Conkling and Fenton on the subject; never have but a small amount of money about me; pay my bills by draft on the company; "don't believe there is $1,000 in the whole crowd here from Georgia;" know nothing of Bullock's financial operations; supposed Rice was doing here just what I was doing, talking with Senators.

C. A. Pilsbury, newspaper correspondent—evidence not material; relating merely to statement in the press and current rumors as to the operations of the Bullock lobby.

APRIL 23.—H. M. Atkinson. (a son-in-law of Senator Tipton) sworn—was approached by one Gibbs, who said he would give $1,000 if Senator Tipton would vote against the Bingham Amendment; he wanted Mr. T. to see Rice; Gibbs knew that I was a son-in-law of Senator Tipton.

Gibbs sworn—Knew no one from Georgia; took great interest in the Bingham Amendment; understood it would turn the State over to the rebels; didn't know where, or when, or how he got the information; wanted Senator Tipton to see Bullock also.

This witness was very much "mixed," and his evidence decidedly rich.

For example—Did not mean I would give $1,000. "It is a wonder to me I did not say I would rather give $100,000." Witness explained that it was a mere figure of speech he used when he got "warm."

"I some times in talking politics to get warm. I have many times when talking with a man made expressions about ten thousand dollars. I sometimes get very warm."

Knew Thayer was on our side, but don't know how I got the information. Witness finally admitted he knew Judge Avery, but said he didn't know he had anything to do with Georgia.

Atkinson recalled (at his own request)—Gibbs wanted Senator Tipton to wait until Morton made his great speech, that he might get facts. He thought it was intended to use money; was sure of it.

Rice sworn—Testified as to the State Road deposits in the Georgia National Bank at Atlanta. Bullock keeps his private accounts in my bank. Have lent no money to any one here except to the colored members of the Georgia Legislature, who wanted funds to take them home. Know nothing of Butler's drawing on my bank. He could not draw in an official capacity. Sometimes his account is pretty low.

APRIL 25.—Bostor, Riggs & Co., bankers, Washington, had cashed drafts of Bullock in Atlanta, in favor of Sykes, Chadwick & Co., of Willard's Hotel, for between $10,000 and $11,000; also in favor of the Globe proprietors for $164 and $341 90.

APRIL 27.—John Kerr, cashier Willard's Hotel, sworn. Bullock received the money for these drafts, and paid his hotel bills out of it. His last bill, for three weeks, was $800—total bills $1,868 31.

P. Gardner, clerk—Knew nothing.

Chadwick, proprietor—Did not know, until now, that the drafts of Bullock endorsed by us were for so large an amount.

MAY 4, Joshua Hill—Testimony not important.

Huntington, of First National Bank, Washington, testified to cashing a draft drawn by Bullock in Atlanta, in favor of D. C. Forney, amounting to $3,508 75.

MAY 5.—D. C. Forney had done printing for Bullock; furnished him with extra copies of the Chronicle at $5 per hundred; whole amount did not exceed $1,500; could not be positive, however; would not show his books, and expose his private business; they were all fair business transactions; had received some money in cash; couldn't tell amount.

The witness was ordered to go and get his books. He went, and was gone some time, and returned without them, asking leave to bring a lawyer with him. After much talk he went away again, and returned with the journal of the Chronicle establishment. The examination was continued at great length; the witness prevaricating and contradicting himself. He said he understood he was requested to bring the journal only, when asked for the other books. The entries in the journal had been altered in one or two places. One hundred pamphlets at $500 had been altered to 2,000 pamphlets. Five thousand copies of the paper at $2 50 had been altered from 500 copies. Bullock's remarks before the Judiciary Committee were paid for at the rate of 25 cents a line. Six hundred dollars was charged for printing 1,000 pamphlets—60 cents apiece! Total amount received from Bullock, $4,450 60.

MAY 6.—D. C. Forney further examined—Testified as to rates of editorial advertising, etc. Said he thought B. F. Whittemore, whose speech was published in the Chronicle, at Bullock's expense, was a member of the Georgia Legislature.

Various employees of the Chronicle were examined; one of whom testified that the regular daily edition of the Chronicle is thirty-five hundred copies. Forney made it some fifteen thousand.

Messrs. Bailey, of the Globe, Mustaugh, of the Republican, and Polkingham, a practical printer of long experience, testified to the excessive charges of the Chronicle.

George A. Bailey was one of the proprietors of the Globe; said Governor Bullock had subscribed to various speeches published in the Globe office, a detailed account being given of several thousand copies of different speeches furnished and extra Globes subscribed for, the whole bill being $505 90. The various pamphlets printed at the Chronicle office were shown the witness, and he stated that the 60-page pamphlet for which the Chronicle charged $450 for 1,000 copies could be furnished for $120; the 2,000 pamphlets of March 2, charged for by the Chronicle $600, could be furnished for $125; the pamphlets charged by the Chronicle March 28, 1,000 copies for $220, and April 4, 1,600 extra, $115, could be furnished, the first thousand at $45, and the second thousand at $25. The Chronicle supplement of April 18, containing speeches of Morton, Breman, Pool and Hamilton of Texas, could be set up for $100, and $20 per thousand for the press work and paper.

The following is a synopsis of the testimony of Governor Bullock:

Governor Bullock testified that while in Washington, in February, March and April, 1870, he had used $14,500; of this sum $4,008 75 had gone to the Chronicle office; $505 90 to the Globe office; $1,400 was advanced by him to colored members of the Georgia Legislature to pay their expenses in Washington, and the rest was spent by him for his private affairs in matters having no connection with legislation; the money paid to the Chronicle was on bills presented, which he produced; he made no agreement about prices or charging things, but paid the bills as presented, without questioning them or inquiring into them; this money was all his private funds; in regard to influencing Senators, the only proposition made was by one George D. Chapman, who represented that certain parties wanted to buy the Georgia State Railroad to make a connection from St. Louis to Hilton Head, and desired to get a Legislature in that interest, and with that view wished to have an election this fall; Chapman told him that Senator Pomeroy was "their man," and would do what this "ring" wanted.

The Hon. S. C. Pomeroy, on having the testimony of Governor Bullock read to him, stated that he did not know Chapman, except from the fact of having been introduced to him by a friend; when understanding he was from Georgia, had a talk of a few minutes about the condition of affairs there; never heard or knew of the "ring" referred to; never was under the influence of Chapman in any way; understood from Governor Bullock that there would be no objection to an election in Georgia this fall if there could be protection to all citizens, and hence had offered his amendment.

WHAT THE NEW YORK PAPERS SAY.

From the N. Y. Herald (Editorial.)]

The Georgia Investigating Committee have made a report which discloses most infamous attempts on the part of Governor Bullock and others interested in the passage of the stringent Georgia bill to influence legislation. The intention to bribe Senators Carpenter and Tipton was fairly developed, but the parties called upon by Governor Bullock's adherents to do the dirty work refused to approach those Senators for any such purpose. The result of the investigation puts the Senate in a high position as contrasted with the result of the cadet-selling investigation in the House, and it remains to be seen if General Butler, whose committee is trying to tack the Bullock clause to the bill, will proceed further in that business.

FROM THE WORLD (EDITORIAL.)

Some time since the Judiciary Committee was instructed to investigate the truth of the charges of bribery and corruption that were freely made against certain Radical Senators in the matter of the Georgia bill. The committee yesterday made its report, from which it appears that the lobbyists were busily concerned in "influencing" the vote on the question, and that the trooly lot Governor Bullock was especially active in drawing checks on the Georgia National Bank in favor of Mr. D. C. Forney, of the Washington Morning Chronicle, and other eminent Radicals. Mr. Forney asserts that the money which he then received was paid to him for printing speeches in the Chronicle; but the public will agree with the committee, that Mr. Forney's bill was decidedly too high. The rates at which he charged for printing remind one of the extravagant prices at which old jack-knives are said to have been sold on election day in those innocent rural districts where bribery was not so systematically conducted as it now is at Washington. Mr. Forney may be as spotless and irreproachable as his distinguished relation, but his friends should urge him to deal no more with Governor Bullock, and to charge somewhat lower rates when he is employed as a printer by lobby agents.

WHAT BULLOCK SAYS

no one knows, except his bosom friends and companions. He has not been visible to the gaze of the vulgar world to-day, and has failed to put in an appearance at the Capitol.

His toadies are still circulating threats of more libel suits. Don't this carpet-bag bummer think he had better subside, once and for all? ARGUS.

☞ A New York negro voted the Democratic ticket, and for that offense was set upon by a gang of Radical "darks," and cruelly beaten. In noticing this occurrence the Star says: "What a howl of indignation there would have been had seventeen Irishmen beaten a negro for voting the Republican ticket. It makes all the difference in the world whose ox is gored."

That Money Well Earned.

In looking over the Radical Organ of yesterday, we find that it is made up, in general, from Forney's Chronicle.

It is due, perhaps, to Forney to admit the natural conclusion that the large sums of money paid him by Bullock were well earned, in view of the fact that he runs the Radical Organ of Atlanta in addition to the Washington Chronicle and Philadelphia Press.

Governor Bullock and the Pardon Abuse—No. 8.

Governor Bullock's organ thanks us for giving an example of his abuse of the pardoning power. We are so much flattered that we give another for the use of the committee.

In April, 1866, one John Long killed Abraham B. Echols, of Gordon county, a most estimable citizen.

Of this terrible crime, Radical Judge McCay, of the Supreme Court of Georgia, in announcing the decision of the Court refusing a new trial, used the following strong language:—vide Part 2, Volume 38 Georgia Reports, p. 511. Long vs. the State:

"This was a plain case of murder—WICKED, RECKLESS, CAUSELESS MURDER—AND THE PROOF IS POSITIVE AND DIRECT. If ever a jury was right this one was. Mercy, in such a case, would be cruelty to society. Violence and homicides have too long been the reproach of our State; and whilst we would always insist on a strict adherence to the law, yet we have no fancy for refinements, to clutch from his merited fate one so lost to all care for human life as is exhibited by the facts of this record. Too many crimes remain in this State unpunished—too many criminals go unpunished of justice—until our brother's blood cries out, as did Abel's. Human life—peaceful human life—needs for its protection that the laws against murder shall be enforced, and we cannot, for slight causes, delay the march of punitive justice."

Judge McCay rebuking Governor Bullock is a good, a wholesome—yea, a unique and novel spectacle. It is fully worth that $25,000 of THE CONSTITUTION'S exchequer that the Executive is so ferociously after.

We see that Nero Williams, one of the Brodbaker murderers, pardoned by Governor Bullock, has been sentenced to 20 years in the Penitentiary for rape on a little colored girl.

Thank us again, Monsieur Organ!

Resignation of Governor Bard, of Idaho.

We give Governor Bard's resignation as Governor of Idaho, accepted to take effect from June 5th.

The ex-Governor will resume journalism in Atlanta, and we hear it rumored that his paper will be dubbed the "True Era," and will join the ranks against the Bullock Ring, though he will still fight for General Grant and Republicanism.

Dr. Bard deals in a sharp sort of writing, whose point Governor Bullock has felt heretofore, and we confess to some curiosity to see these old antagonists pitted against each other once more. The fur will be certain to fly, and we do not doubt that the State will be benefitted by the encounter:

METROPOLITAN HOTEL,
WASHINGTON, D. C.,
May 20, 1870.

To His Excellency, the President:

SIR: The political condition of Georgia is still unsettled and unsatisfactory. I hoped and expected, ere this, it would have been otherwise. As it is not, I deem it a duty which I owe to the people of Georgia to resume my profession as a journalist in the city of Atlanta. I have the honor, therefore, to hand your Excellency this, my resignation as Governor of the Territory of Idaho, to take effect from the fifth day of June, 1870.

With great respect,
I am, Mr. President,
Your friend and fellow-citizen,
A true copy. SAM. BARD.

Governor Bullock and the Public Funds—No. 9.

The following section occurs in the Appropriation Act of the 19th of March, 1869:

"And the sum of $1,800 each to the Secretaries of the Executive Department, not exceeding two, for the year 1869; and that neither of said Secretaries shall receive ANY COMPENSATION FOR EXTRA SERVICES; and that his Excellency, the Governor, be authorized to employ such additional assistance in the Executive Department as he may deem necessary at any time, not to exceed one; and that he draw his warrant on the Treasury to pay for the same out of any money not otherwise appropriated: Provided, SAID CLERK SHALL NOT BE ENTITLED TO MORE THAN ONE HUNDRED AND FIFTY DOLLARS PER MONTH."

Comptroller Bell's report shows that this law has been violated by Governor Bullock. This "one clerk," H. J. G. Williams, has not only drawn a regular salary of $150 per month for the year—making $1,800 per annum—but on the 10th of August, 1869, Governor Bullock, illegally, gave this same H. J. G. Williams a warrant, "for extra services," for $850, thus running up Williams' salary to the unauthorized amount of $220 per month.

The breach of law by Governor Bullock is plain, and we call the committee's attention to it.

This act further absolutely prohibits Governor Bullock from employing more than one clerk, and it being the last act was paramount; yet he, in defiance of the prohibition, has kept five more "extra clerks in his department," under pretext of the 73d section of the Code, at a cost to the State of $750 a month, or $9,000 a year. Thus does he pension his favorites. And the people pay for it.

☞ Fincastle, since the great fire, presents a saddening aspect. For squares nothing is to be seen but blackened ruins, houseless chimneys and smouldering walls. The court-house stands alone in the centre of the town. All around it lie the debris of fire.

The Radical Organ Won't Answer the Columbus Enquirer.

A day or two back we called the organ's attention to the Columbus Enquirer's demolisher. It dare not copy or try to answer.

In its issue, yesterday, it states the question thus:

"The question is, shall the Legislature be permitted to hold its legal term as prescribed in the Constitution; and this is all that Republicans ask."

We quote the Enquirer on the point, as containing the reply to this absurdity:

As to the Era's suggestion that if the Democratic claim that the constitutional term commenced in July, 1868, be correct, the term of the Legislature expires in July of this year, that is distinctly disposed of by the constitution itself, which provides that "the election for members of the General Assembly shall begin on Tuesday after the first Monday in November every second year, except the first election, which shall be within sixty days after the adjournment of this Convention." Language could not be more explicit than this.

OUR TEXAS LETTER.

Selma, Alabama—The "Morgan" Line—Galveston, Texas, and its Condition—Its Railroads—Marlin.

Special Correspondence Atlanta Constitution.]

MARLIN, FALLS COUNTY, TEXAS,
May 14, 1870.

Editors Constitution—DEAR SIRS: In compliance with a promise made Mr. Hemphill, I now address myself to the pleasing duty of sending you a few pendrops from the great and prosperous State of Texas.

"I need not burthen your columns with the details of my trip, and the many old army friends in the "Lost Cause," with whom I met and passed a few brief moments in my transit hither. Yet, I must be permitted to speak of the honor did me by that distinguished soldier, General Hardee, who called upon me in Selma, Alabama, and bestowed upon me the kindest attentions. Our interview was brief, but sufficiently protracted to call up in conversation many a day of heroic daring, privation and suffering through which the undaunted sons of the South had passed in their vain struggle for independence.

During my short stay in Selma, I called at the office of the Times, whose editors, learning that I was representing THE CONSTITUTION, gave me a most cordial welcome, extending to me all those courtesies and amenities which are characteristic of the educated and polished gentleman. They have "hung their banner on the outer walls" of Conservative Democracy, and inspired with the assurances that "thrice armed is he who hath his quarrels just," are doing yeoman service in the cause of right.

I found the farming interests of the country through which I passed generally in a healthy condition, and crops are looking well.

From New Orleans to Galveston, I came by-what is known as the Morgan interior line, being eighty miles by rail to Brashear City, and thence by steamer to the Island City of Galveston. Morgan is unquestionably a monopolist of colossal proportions. For a quarter of a century he has been filling his coffers by fleecing Texas and Louisiana. Passengers by this line must submit to being driven on board the steamer like flocks of sheep; each one compelled to produce a ticket purchased at the office in New Orleans, thereby establishing the fact that they have actually paid to the ticket agent eighteen dollars for twenty-three hours' ride on the Morgan line. In my travels through this State, I find that the citizens of Texas are almost a unit in the bitterest denunciations against this huge monopoly.

The immense wealth of Morgan ranks him at once a formidable foe in commercial and all financial circles, and it would result in certain insolvency to any competitor to enter the list against him, who could not count his gold by the millions. And strange to say, the press, with few exceptions, is silent upon this subject.

Galveston, which is the Gulf terminus of the Texas Central Railroad, is a flourishing city, and is destined to become a place of no ordinary note. Your readers have already seen an account of the active measures now in progress for the improvement of harbor facilities at that port, and I need not allude to them.

Texas is unquestionably a very superior and desirable country; her agricultural resources and advantages, in many parts of the State, rival the most fertile and productive regions of this continent. The Brazos River lands stand pre-eminent in fertility to any in the State, producing from one to two bales of cotton, and from forty to eighty bushels of corn per acre, and these enormous yields are produced under a system of cultivation which is absolutely absurd, establishing the fact conclusively that these results could be very materially enhanced by a thorough preparation and proper cultivation of the soil.

There is a general spirit pervading this State to develop its slumbering resources. However Radical the State may be, yet that body is almost a unit on the question of building railroads; and, though Governor Davis' message is highly objectionable, as far as his recommendations of the militia is concerned, yet, in the main, it is a statesmanlike document, and entitles its author to take rank among the most practical men of the age. His railroad policy meets with general favor. And in view of the fact that previous Legislatures have burthened the Statute books of the State with useless charters for the construction of roads that were, perhaps, never intended to be built, his recommendation of the chartering of one grand trunk road from Red river to the Rio Grande, with well guarded State aid, gladdens the great popular heart of Texas, and creates a thrill of generosity. I have just returned from Austin, where I met General Barnes, who represents a company, whose combined capital is amply sufficient to construct a half dozen roads across the continent. This distinguished gentleman and able financier, whose very name is a synonym of high purposes and incorruptible honesty, is now asking the Legislature for a charter in harmony with the views forshadowed in the Executive message.

When I left the Capital a few days ago, his most sanguine hopes seemed on the point of realization; and if there were any opposed to the measure, their voices were too feeble to attract attention. General Barnes proposes to connect with the Cairo and Fulton Road, now in rapid progress of construction, and to cross Texas in a southwestern direction to some navigable point on the Rio Grande.

This has been rather a dry spring until recently; yet crops are in a growing condition, and the fine rains that have fallen within the last two weeks have imparted an additional freshness and verdure to the whole vegetable kingdom.

This place, (Marlin) the county site of Falls county, is a very pretty little town on the line of the Waco Tap Road, and three miles from the Brazos river. The alluvial bottom soil adjacent hereto is of the highest order of fertility. The town and adjacent country supports one paper, "The Falls County Pioneer," a spirited sheet decidedly conservative in its tendency.

But lest I should weary your readers, I will close for the present.

Yours, truly, T. B. C.

GENERAL PRESBYTERIAN ASSEMBLY IN PHILADELPHIA.—The United States Gazette says the Assembly will represent two hundred and forty-six Presbyteries, containing nearly four thousand five hundred congregations and ministers, almost half a million communicants, and a membership of about two and a half millions. This will be the first General Assembly since the re-union of the Old and New Schools. It consequently has to shape the administration of the Church afresh and throughout. The committee on reconstruction, appointed six months ago to prepare a scheme, have published one that is to be acted upon. It has been warmly debated already, and will unquestionably cause much interest in the Assembly.

His wound is very painful, and discharging freely.

The Monroe Advertiser, 24th, says: In some portions of the county corn and cotton are dying out from the effect of the hot, dry weather. Other districts have had rains within three weeks, and crops are not suffering to any great extent. Oats are said to be materially damaged. Wheat is being injured by the drought, but we learn that rice-birds are proving a greater source of annoyance to farmers in some sections of the county than the weather. They are attacking wheat fields in large numbers, and playing havoc with the crop.

Resolved, That should the Trustees of Mercer University decline the offer of this city, the Mayor and Council of the city of Macon are requested to devote the same amount as that tendered to Mercer University, together with such other amount as may be obtained from other sources, to the erection of suitable buildings for, and the endowment of a first-class male college in our midst.

The Savannah News, 23d, contains the following notice of a noted character of that city:

We find in the New York papers a notice of the death of Brigadier General J. Edgar Farnum, which occurred in that city on the 16th instant. General Farnum will be remembered by many of our citizens as the Colonel Farnum whose connection with the Wanderer (the first and only vessel owned in Georgia that ever brought a cargo of slaves from Africa to her shores) caused such a sensation in the country just previous to the war. The deceased was, we believe, with General Walker, "the grey-eyed man of destiny," in Nicaragua expedition. He afterward attempted to re-open the African slave trade in connection with parties interested in the yacht Wanderer. For his participation in that enterprise he was arrested by the United States authorities, and with several others, citizens of Georgia, was tried before the United States Court, Judge Wayne presiding, for a violation of the African slave trade. The excitement which grew out of that trial, and the personal difficulty which resulted from it, will be remembered by many of our citizens. Col. Farnum, as he was then called, commanded the Wanderer, and attempted to escape with her to sea, while she was held as a condemned slaver by the United States authorities. He behaved gallantly throughout the Wanderer affair, and enlisted the strong sympathy of citizens of Savannah, who stood by him during his trial and imprisonment. After his release at the opening of the war, he returned to New York, where, to the surprise of his Southern friends, he entered the Union service as Lieutenant-Colonel of the Fire Zouaves, commanded by Colonel Ellsworth, who was killed in Alexandria, Virginia, by Thomas Jackson, proprietor of the Marshall House Hotel in that city. General Farnum's life was one of adventure. He fought through the war against those whom he had at one time claimed as his friends, and at the time of his death, held the rank of Brigadier General, in the service of a government whose laws, as a slaver, he had set at defiance.

Death of W. H. McLarin.

Special Correspondence Atlanta Constitution.]

FAIRBURN, GA., May 24, 1870.

Editor Constitution: Dear Sir—On yesterday evening our community was thrown into the deepest gloom; business was suspended, and all was excitement, caused by the sudden death of William H. McLarin.

Mr. McLarin had been in feeble health for some time, but had become convalescent and yesterday morning he expressed a wish to visit his mill, situated about four miles north of Fairburn; whereupon Mr. W. B. Swann, one of our citizens, volunteered to carry him in a buggy. Having arrived safely at the mill, they took a batteau ride up the pond, and on their return to the mill, they retired to a small house near the mill to rest—Mr. McLarin resting upon a rude cot put there for the use of the miller. Beneath the pillow of the cot was a large loaded navy pistol. Mr. Swann, not suspecting anything wrong with Mr. McLarin, stepped out of the house, and had got a short distance from it, when he heard the report of the pistol, and hastening back to the house found Mr. McLarin lying upon the cot in the agony of death, having shot himself through the heart. He never spoke. The cause of this rash act is unknown. He leaves an interesting family, and was respected and beloved by all who knew him. This town, county and surrounding country will miss him and mourn his loss. W. H. McLarin was a kind husband and father, a true and trusty friend, an energetic business man, a true and genuine christian. He will be buried this evening at four o'clock, with Masonic honors, at his family burial-ground near this place.

CORONER'S INQUEST.

There has been an inquest held upon the body of W. H. McLarin, and from the evidence, it is believed that he came to his death by accident.

The Bureau-Howard Corruption Committee examined General Boynton, correspondent of the Cincinnati Gazette.

General Jordan, of Cuba, dined with the Committee on Foreign Affairs of the House and Senate this evening, by invitation of Representative Swann, of Maryland, member of the House Committee.

The Committee of Conference on the bill to enforce the 15th Amendment, agreed upon a report which was signed by Senators Stewart and Edmunds, Representatives Bingham and Davis—Senator Stockton and Representative Kerr declining. The principal amendments are the 13th and 31st sections, and they do not alter the general sense of the bill, but make it more explicit. That portion of the 13th section, authorizing the President to employ the land and naval forces of the United States to prevent violation or enforce the execution of the act, is amended so as to authorize the use of such forces to aid the Judiciary authorities in enforcing the act. The phraseology of the 21st section is somewhat changed, but the general intention of the original section remains. This action pertains to the jurisdiction of the Court in relation to writs of quo warranto. New sections are added explanatory of, and to simplify, the bill.

The President has issued a proclamation setting forth that sundry illegal military enterprises and expeditions are on foot within the United States, with a view to carry on the same against the people and district of Canada, within the dominion of Queen Victoria, with whom the United States is at peace.

The President, therefore, admonishes all good citizens of the United States and all persons within the jurisdiction of the same, against aiding, countenancing, abetting, or taking part in such unlawful proceedings, and warns all persons that, by committing such illegal acts, they forfeit all right to protection by this Government, or to its interference in their behalf, to rescue them from consequences of their own acts; and he enjoins all officers in the United States to employ all lawful authority and power to prevent and defeat the aforesaid unlawful proceedings, and to arrest and bring to justice all persons who may engage therein.

Congressional.

In the Senate Harlan delivered a speech in support of the bill to sell Osage Indian lands in Kansas, defending settlers on these lands from accusation of Morrill of Maine, that they were robbers and marauders.

The Appropriation Bill was resumed and an amendment to appropriate 450,000 dollars in aid of the Louisville Canal was debated, but finally withdrawn.

An amendment to prohibit the admission of any pardon or amnesty as evidence in a Court of Claims in support of the loyalty of a claimant was debated.

Conference committee report on the in to enforce the right of citizens to vote of several States was discussed. The rep simply makes the bill more explicit.

Mr. Cox, of New York, said he was willing to support the bill if the feature in relation to drawbacks was stricken out.

Mr. Schumaker, of New York, urged the necessity of something similar to the drawback system to restore our prostrate commerce. Mr. Banks then briefly said the House was in favor of the bill.

In the House, on closing the debate on Lynch's bill promoting American commerce, Mr. Peters, of Maine, proceeded to speak in support of the measure.

Mr. Coburn opposed the bill as being in favor of ship building interests at the expense of commerce and navigation.

Mr. Brooks urged that if a deduction of duties was made for the ship-builders, other mechanical and agricultural interests should receive the same benefits.

Mr. Lynch then allowed a number of amendments to be offered, and demanded the previous question.

The previous question was seconded—yeas 77, nays 73. The question was then taken on ordering the main question, and the House refused to order it—yeas 87, nays 95. The bill then went over, under the rule, until to-morrow.

[NOTE—The statement in the noon report, that the bill was defeated was an error.]

Appropriations resumed.

Voorhees moved to strike out the appropriation for the Consulate at Jago De Cuba, and called the attention of the House to the late outrages perpetrated in that city; that the United States flag did not protect the Consulate or American citizens.

A general debate ensued, in which a number of members participated.

General Logan said no government ever sat so quiet as the present administration, while a struggle was going on between oppression and liberty.

The debate continued up to adjournment.

General Banks said the Committee on Foreign Affairs would bring the whole question before the house in a few days.

LANCASTER, PENNSYLVANIA, May 24. The Philadelphia express train going East this morning, collided with an emigrant train. One employee killed and several emigrants hurt. Cause—misplaced switch.

THE DAILY CONSTITUTION.

ATLANTA, GEORGIA, MAY 25

THE Odd Fellows' picnic comes off to-morrow.

THE Stone Mountain Brass Band went down to Stone Mountain last night. The new hotel will be opened to-day.

SEVERAL days since the residence of Mr. E. W. Holland was robbed of a hat and a $70 overcoat, and the residence of Mr. W. A. Moore of a fine gold watch. Deputy Marshal J. L. Johnson has succeeded in recovering all the articles, and in capturing the thief, one Levi Shafer, (colored,) who will have a hearing before Justice Spencer this morning.

Mr. W. A. HEMPHILL, has been appointed by the Ordinary of Clarke county, Administrator on the estate of William Wood, deceased. The business will be carried on at the late stand of Mr. Wood, on Broad street. Skilled and attentive workmen employed. A full supply of coffins of all kinds on hand. The finest hearse ever brought South can be obtained here to attend at funerals.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR.—A number of the Knights Templar left yesterday evening for Macon. They were escorted to the cars by Clark's fine band, and presented a handsome appearance. The following went down:

Calvin Fay, W. H. Tuller, Max Corput, J. M. Willis, R. M. Rose, W. H. Hancock, A. Jourdan, R. Arnold, W. K. Fox, Amos Fox, E. A. McLaughlin, H. S. Healy, G. S. Cook, O. L. Pease, B. F. Moore, J. G. McLin, J. Ransom, J. H. Purtell J. E. Butler, B. Y. Sage, F. B. Palmer.

THE CARNIVAL at the Rink last night was a brilliant success. The skating was fine, and all characters and costumes, ancient and modern, grotesque, picturesque, oriental and occidental, moved about in one whirling fascinating maze to the beautiful music of Clark's band.

The supper at Thompson's restaurant resembled a temple of enchantment, where fairies innumerable flitted about, and the delicacies set forth could well be conceived to be the ambrosial food of gods. The jam was immense, yet all had plenty. The carnival and supper was one of the grandest successes of the age. The ladies know no such word as fail.

The Committee of Arrangements will meet at Thompson's restaurant this morning at 9 o'clock.

THE undersigned have the pleasure to report the sum of $233 13 as the net proceeds of the Strawberry Festival given by the Ladies' Sewing Society of the Central Presbyterian Church, and in behalf of the Society, return many thanks for the liberal patronage bestowed by the citizens generally, and for the generous donations by members of the congregation and others.

The special thanks of the Society are extended to the editors for favorable notices; to the City Council for use of Hall and gas; to Clarke's band for music; to Messrs. McBride & Co. for the loan of crockery; to Mr. R. G. Thompson for superintending the freezing of cream; to Mr O. H. Jones for use of carriages; to Mr. A Tuttle for carpenter work; and to Mr. Patrick Fitzgibbon for his very obliging and efficient attentions during the entertainment.

ROOM WESTERN & ATLANTIC RAILROAD.
INVESTIGATING COMMITTEE,
Tuesday Morning, May 24, 1870.

The committee met at 9 o'clock, A. M. Present, Messrs. Brook, Colman, Lee, Maxwell, Parks and Tweedy. Messrs. Phillips and Wooten absent.

The committee was called together by the Chairman, and the journals of Friday, Saturday and Monday were read and approved.

A. L. Harris, Master of Transportation and Supervisor, was again called before the committee. He stated that about thirty thousand dollars of the amount reported by him as ordinary expenses was for the building of new cars, which should have been added to the extraordinary and taken from the ordinary expenses.

He also amends his statement of Friday by saying that at contract stations, where nothing is paid for sawing wood, but the parties furnish the wood sawed and racked for $2 50 per cord; that $35 per month is paid for pumping water, viz: at 31, 74, 85, and 120 mile stations; at 57 mile station the road pays $20 per month.

Interrogatory by the Chairman—What does the station keeper at Greenwood station receive for pumping water per month?

Answer—$20 for pumping water, and 25 cents per cord for sawing wood.

Question—What does he get at Graysville?

Answer—Graysville is a contract station, and gets $35 per month for pumping water, and $2 50 per wood, furnished sawed and racked ready for the engine.

Question—Does any employee of the road have any interest in the station?

Answer—None that he knows of. Mr. Gray is the keeper of the station, and is paid for wood, sawed, the price named. Mr. Gray is a gentleman, and in the opinion of witness, would not be a party to any fraudulent transaction.

Question—How many blank free passes are signed and given out?

Answer—The foreman of rock work and the two boss track layers are furnished with passes, signed in blank, for the use of their hands going to their homes on Saturday night, or such other times as they are compelled to go; but knows of no case of improper use of this privilege by subordinates. Thinks this is the usual custom, as no railroad charges its employees going to and returning from their work.

Regular order resumed.

Interrogatory 14—What employees or officers are interested in procuring such material or supplies? (wood, cross-ties, and other railroad material.)

Answer—Knows of no one who is interested in any fraudulent measure; agents, who have land along the line of the road, can, and do get wood and cross-ties and put them on the road as other persons; Hoyt, Hinton, Barnes, and others get wood and cross-ties; Hoyt probably puts more on the road than any other three men, but it is all inspected, measured, or counted in the same manner; the Supervisor's Clerk accompanies Hoyt, attends to the inspecting, measuring, etc., of Hoyt's wood and ties; the names of all persons getting material for the road can be seen by reference to the pay rolls.

Interrogatory 15—Whether any officer or employees of the road are interested in eating houses where the road employees are fed?

Answers—But one, Mr. Crow, at Chattanooga, keeps an eating house for engine men, and has done so for years.

The eating houses are located to suit the schedules of the road, and not the schedules adopted to suit the eating houses.

Interrogatory 16—Witness thinks Jesse W. Jackson, local agent at Atlanta, the proper person to answer.

Witness can't answer to 17th, 18th, 19th, 20th, 21st, 23d, nor 23d interrogatory.

Interrogatory 24 and 25—What number of persons were in the employment of the road during the year 1869? and what number per month?

Answer—
January	704
February	753
March	704
April	646
May	651
June	715
July	819
August	804
September	709
October	808
November	801
December	803
Total	8,616
Average per month	743

This number was not in the constant employ of the road, but suppose about seven hundred to be constantly employed. Witness states that it requires more hands to keep up the Western and Atlantic Railroad than any road he knows of—by 50 per cent—in consequence of the clay soil and numerous curves, bridges, culverts, etc.

Here Mr. Harris was called off.

The Clerk, Mr. D. P. Hill, presented a communication to the committee, and asked them to excuse him and consider the communication, and take such action as they thought proper, and left the room.

Mr. Parks was requested to act as Clerk, which he did, and read the communication as follows:

ATLANTA, May 24, 1870.

To the Joint Committee appointed to investigate the officers of the Western and Atlantic Railroad:

Gentlemen: I published, on the 18th instant, a card in the Atlanta Intelligencer, in which I denounced as false certain charges made in THE CONSTITUTION, of this city, against me, and not knowing the author of the charges, I said:

"If the person who reported the article which first appeared in THE CONSTITUTION was not present, then THE CONSTITUTION was misinformed. If, however he was present, then he had willfully lied."

On the day my original card appeared in the Intelligencer, Mr. R. W. Phillips, of Echols county, rose in the committee and admitted that he reported matter for THE CONSTITUTION, which drew forth the article, but said THE CONSTITUTION had misrepresented him, and complained of the rather harsh language used in my card.

The committee then called upon me to explain, which I did by reiterating and insisting that all I had said in my original card was true; and I read the charges, one by one, and said, if any member of the committee disagreed with me, I desired an expression to that effect. No member replied, for they knew my original card spoke the truth.

Mr. Phillips then explained, by saying he was misrepresented by THE CONSTITUTION, and gave a wishy washy explanation of his conduct—the substance of which he has partly published in the Intelligencer.

In his explanation before the committee he evinced such an anxiety to adjust the affair, that I consented he should publish his views, as he had stated them, and let the matter pass.

My connection with the committee has been pleasant and agreeable, and I have, to the best of my ability, discharged my duties.

I desire, however, to relieve the committee of any embarrassment it may have in consequence of my being clerk, for I assure you it will be very disagreeable for me to longer serve you if you believe false the charges made in my original card of the 18th. If, however, you desire me longer to continue your clerk, I shall consider that you believe all true that I said in my original card. Please give an early expression of your desire as to my remaining your clerk.

Respectfully,
D. P. HILL.

The following resolution was proposed and unanimously adopted:

Resolved, That we have received the communication of Col D P Hill, Clerk, addressed to this committee of this date, and while we regret the unpleasant affair between him and Mr. R. W. Phillips, still candor requires us to say that the facts stated in his communication addressed to us are true, and we do ire him to continue to serve us as Clerk.

Hill returned and thanked the committee for their action.

The hour of 1 having arrived, the Chairman declared the committee adjourned until to-morrow morning at 9 o'clock.

GENERAL MARKETS.

CINCINNATI, May 20.

CORN—The receipts were heavy, footing up over 20,000 bushels for the 24 hours ending noon to-day. A considerable portion of this was put in on contracts, and the offerings compared with the arrivals were small. There was a good demand from distillers, and the inquiry for shipment South was also better, and prices are tending upward. Sound mixed ear sold at 95a95, at the lower depots, and there was a good demand at these rates at the close. Shelled sold at 97. White and pure yellow ear sold at 97a98, and white and yellow shelled is quoted at 1 00, with few lots on the market. Including sacks 1 08a1 10 is asked for it.

BULK MEATS—A firm but quiet market. Shoulders sold ot 12, loose, to the extent of 100,000 pounds, and 15 was obtained for rib sides. Clear rib sides are in demand at 15½, and clear sides at 16, but ¼c more was generally asked. The above rates are for loose meats. No hams on the market. About 250,000 lbs. meat sold at Indianapolis last evening at 12 for shoulders, 15¾ for clear rib sides, and 16 for clear sides, loose.

BACON—The transactions were on a moderate scale only, and confined mainly to jobbing lots. Full prices, however, are asked and obtained for the few lots selling. Shoulders sold at 13½; clear rib sides 16¾, and clear sides 17½a17½, all packed. Sugar-cured hams are firm at 19½a20, canvased and packed.

LARD—An active market, and quotations are to a great extent nominal. Kettle-rendered leaf, city brands, could have been had at 16 cents, and country will not sell for more than 15¾ cents. Some lots of steam could not have been obtained at the latter rate.

HAY—The demand is hardly equal to the supply, and we have to report a dull market, but prices are unchanged. We quote No. 1 timothy $16 00a17 00 per ton; fair to good 14 00a15 00, and common 12 00a13 00, on arrival, and 1 00a2 00 more from store.

The Brook's Cotton Press!

WE shall continue to manufacture the celebrated WROUGHT IRON Cotton Screw Press, which has now an established reputation as being THE BEST COTTON PRESS ever offered to the public. It took the FIRST PREMIUMS at the state Fairs of Louisiana, Mississippi and Tennessee, and any amount of Testimonials from Planters, who have them in use, showing their superiority over all other Presses. We have perfected some VERY IMPORTANT improvements in this Press (which we shall give our customers without additional cost on former prices) by using Steel friction balls and chilled iron grooves in the parts most liable to wear (formerly made of cast iron). We have also added considerable to the size and strength of the Irons. Our Screw Nuts are made of refined wrought iron 2¾ inches diameter, 8¼ feet long (formerly 3½ inches, iron and 3 feet long,) and are threaded so as to pack a bale in TWO THIRDS THE TIME formerly taken. KOSKOO.—This medicine is rapidly gaining the confidence of the people, and the numerous testimonials of its virtues, given by practitioners of medicine, leaves no doubt that it is a safe and reliable remedy for impurity of the blood, liver disease, etc.

The last Medical Journal contains an article from Prof. R. S. Newton, M. D., President of the E. Medical College, city of New York, that speaks in high terms of its curative properties, and gives a special recommendation of Koskoo to the practitioners of medicine. This is, we believe, the first instance where such medicines have been officially endorsed by the Faculty of any of the medical colleges, and reflects great credit upon the skill of Dr. Lawrence, its compounder, and also puts "Koskoo" in the van of all other medicines of the present day. feb26-d&w6m

No poisonous drugs in "Barrett's."

A VOICE FROM THE KITCHEN.—Upwards of thirty professed cooks, many of them hailing from the best hotels in the United States, have voluntarily come forward and pronounced Rand's Sea Moss Farine the finest article for puddings, custards, blanc mange, creams, jellies, and other favorite items of the dessert that has ever come under their notice.

So much for the palatability of the new element of food.

A still greater number of distinguished physicians and scientific chemists endorse it as a nutriment of the very highest class; while every housekeeper who uses it admits that it is full fifty per cent. cheaper than maizena, farina, corn starch, or any other preparation from corn or the cereal grains.

The new food staple is manufactured, under a patent, by the Sea Moss Farine Co., 53 Park Place; and in view of the above established facts, it is not surprising that their extensive machinery is kept running night and day to supply a demand that is rapidly becoming universal.

A FEW WORDS OF WEIGHT.—"Do you mean to say, madam, that he has taken no other medicine?"

This question was asked the other day in relation to a young man, "the only son of a widow," who was then rapidly recovering from a state of absolute prostration, occasioned by chronic indigestion. It was asked by a friend of the family of the invalid's mother, Mrs. Kiernan, 95 Abingdon Square, New York.

The medicine referred to was PLANTATION BITTERS. "I do mean to say it," replied Mrs. K.: "we had tried twenty other remedies before, without the slightest benefit; but we tried none afterwards, for the Bitters proved all sufficient."

The lady herself is the authority for this statement; and she further states her belief that the restorative in question is the best tonic and invigorator ever administered.

LOVE ONE ANOTHER.

BY ELIZA COOK.

We dream of music heard in Heaven,
Of hallelujahs loud and long;
Of golden lyres and seraph choirs,
And all the bliss of angel song.
But the rich strain and raptured flow,
That pour around the mighty throne,
Spring from the key-note touched below,
When Jesus said, in gentle tone,
"Love one another"

We fondly picture future homes
Where there shall never more be night,
With crystal walls and azure domes
Bathed in the flood of Glory's light.
We hope to walk the star-paved ground,
And claim a mansion high and pure;
But this plain corner-stone is found
Fixed here, to make that mansion sure—
"Love one another."

Short creed—but taught of God's own Son—
The Type of Truth and Human Good;
The Holy, Wise, Child-hearted One,
Who sealed His Mission with His Blood.
When scoffers led him forth to die,
No hate, no vengeance filled His breath;
"Father, forgive them," was His cry,
Still teaching in His hour of death—
"Love one another."

ROSE TIME.

BY THOMAS HOOD.

It was not in the winter
Our loving lot was cast;
It was the time of roses—
We plucked them as we passed!

That churlish season never frowned
On early lovers yet;
O, no—the world was newly crowned
With flowers when we met!

'Twas twilight, and I bade you go,
But still you held me fast;
It was the time of roses—
We plucked them as we passed!

City and Suburban Affairs.

HON. E. P. HOWELL returned to the city this morning.

HON. MILTON A. CANDLER, and Thomas W. Alexander, Esq., left for Milledgeville this morning.

THE ladies are making ample preparations for the Memorial Supper to-night. It will be the event of the season.

THE young gents who tied that box of buttons to the black Thomas Cat's caudal appendage last night, are requested to call at No. 14, Rock street, and get it.

IT was Judge W. T. Newman, a State Road official, and not Captain W. T. Newman, who presented the gold-headed cane to Speaker McWhorter.

J. CHAP. NORRIS, late Military Sheriff of Warren county, was arrested yesterday on three bench warrants from Warren Superior Court for false imprisonment. He went before Notary Public B. D. Smith, waived an examination, and gave bond for his appearance at the next session of the court. Messrs. Gartrell and Stephens are his lawyers.

FIRE.—About twenty minutes after five o'clock this morning, the alarm of fire was sounded, and was found to proceed from the laundry of Messrs. Davis & Van Winkle, near Rawsonville. The engines were promptly out, but by the time they had got ready to play upon the fire, the house—a wooden frame building—was destroyed, together with engine, boiler, vats, washing machines and other fixtures. There was about $500 of clothes in the laundry, which was saved. We learn that the buildings and machinery were insured for $3,000. The lot, buildings and machinery cost, we understand, about $7,000. The loss of Messrs. Davis & Van Winkle will be about $2,500. It is supposed the fire is the work of incendiaries, as the fire was put out at nine o'clock last night.

SABBATH SCHOOL CELEBRATION.

An Interesting Description of the Festivities.

Correspondence of The Atlanta Constitution.]

CAVE SPRING, GA., May 20, 1870.

The 29th of May, 1870! with Christians a gigantic era of the Ninteenth Century! To-day our village, so meritorious for gurgling springs, tattling brooks, shady groves, august hills, grassy vales, etc., was made the favored point for the grand concentration of the Sabbath School multitude. At 10 A. M. the schools from the "Fabled Seven Hill City" arrived at this place, and were cordially and unanimously welcomed by everybody and "his wife, and their sons and their wives." The above mentioned army were met by the schools of Cave Spring, they passing between two lines composed of miscellaneous forms, miscellaneous faces, miscellaneous merchandise, miscellaneous children, miscellaneous matrons, miscellaneous maidens, and the lines that were passing through (femininely) were miscellaneously beautiful.

On reaching the Campus, the place selected, the exercises were opened by an appropriate and touching prayer from the Rev. Mr. Acton. Rev. Mr. Gwaltney next took the stand, and delivered a most excellent address, redolent with sacred and momentous truths that should be indelibly stamped upon every human heart.

To give a sparkling variety to these proceedings, the band, every now and then, would peal forth floods of alluring music, which acted like a syrenic charm on the entire audience. We here tender our intense thanks to that musical body, who were so instrumental in supporting the joys of the day.

The exercises concluded about twelve. Now the crowd again "miscellaneously" scattered over the grove, over hills, over creeks, over bridges, over rocks, over soda founts, and ice cream (specially). En passant, they miscellaneously stumbled on their baskets at half past twelve, and hugely enjoyed the soul-desiring luxuries of the occasion.

The schools of Jacksonville, and intermediate points, arrived at 1 P. M., and were hailed with welcome by the whole party.

The visage of that portion of the audience who claim their origin on Eve's sunny "side of the house," were effulgent with sensational and startling attraction, which paralyzed (specially we young enthusiasts) in the zenith degree our internal love apparatus. In a word, Mr. Editor, the whole element was in a convulsion of felicity. And you know these kind of physical and psychological convulsions are delightfully perceptible.

At 4, P. M., our agreeable Roman visitors miscellaneously migrated. With reluctance we bade the farewell, hoping that we might meet at the expiration of another year under similar circumstances.

The Jacksonville, and that fascinating Cedar Town party, also took their leave in a short time. Yes! "we parted by the creek side." The sun looked down on we and us! Alas! 'tis sad to say that we and us, at several periods, were basking in the misery of that looking sun. But still there seemed to be a miscellaneous enjoyment sprinkled on every face.

Visit us again, Alabamians and Romans. Oh! those seraphic and heart-absorbing maidens! Ever since their departure, I have had accelerated palpitations of the soul—or heart. HORATIO.

P. S.—We had the pleasure of meeting our ever pleasant friend, "Bill Arp," "who am, which am what." H.

☞ Why do not the Radical papers print the scathing articles of their own organ, the Nation, which declares the present government of South Carolina to be "a disgrace to civilization?"

☞ New York does about one-eighth of the whole soda-water business of the United States. One thousand fountains are in blast in that city alone during the summer months. One stone on Broadway sells, during the hottest days of the season, ten thousand glasses per day. It is computed that during the three hottest months New Yorkers drink two hundred thousand glasses daily.

☞ The quantity of iron ore transported over the St. Louis and Iron Mountain Railroad, during the past four months, amounted to 139,357,260 pounds. The total amount of pig iron transported during the same time was 16,406,285 pounds.

KOSKOO!

THE GREAT REPUTATION

Which KOSKOO has attained in all parts of country

AS A GREAT AND GOOD MEDICINE!

And the Large Numbers of Testimonials

which are constantly being received from Physicians, and persons who Have BEEN CURED by its use, is CONCLUSIVE PROOF of its REMARKABLE VALUE.

AS A BLOOD PURIFIER,

IT HAS NO EQUAL,

[BEING POSITIVELY

The Most Powerful Vegetable Alterative Yet Discovered.

DISEASES OF THE BLOOD.

"The life of the flesh is in the Blood," is a Scriptural maxim that science proves to be true. The people talk of bad blood, as the cause of many diseases, and like many popular opinions, this of bad blood is founded in truth.

The symptoms of bad blood are usually quite plain—bad Digestion—causes imperfect nutrition, and consequently the circulation is feeble, the soft tissues loose their tone and elasticity, and the tongue becomes pale, broad, and frequently covered with a pasty, white coat. This condition soon shows itself in roughness of the skin, then in ERUPTIVE and ULCERATIVE diseases, and when long continued, results in serious lesions of the Brain, Liver, Lungs, or urinary apparatus. Much, very much, suffering is caused by impure blood. It is estimated by some that one-fifth of the human family are effected with scrofula in some form.

When the Blood is pure, you are not so liable to any disease. Many impurities of the Blood arise from impure diseases of large cities. Eradicate every impurity from the fountain of life, and good spirits, fair skin and vital strength will return to you.

KOSKOO,

AS A

Liver Invigorator!

STANDS UNRIVALLED.

Being the only KNOWN Medicine that EFFICIENTLY stimulates and CORRECTS the hepatic secretions and functional DERANGEMENTS of the LIVER, WITHOUT DEBILITATING the system. While it acts freely upon the Liver instead of capricious purging, it gradually changes the discharges to a perfectly natural state.

SYMPTOMS OF LIVER COMPLAINT AND OF SOME OF THOSE DISEASES PRODUCED BY IT.

A sallow or yellow color of the skin, or yellowish-brown spots on the face and other parts of the body; dullness and drowsiness, sometimes, headache; bitter or bad taste in the mouth, internal heat; in many cases a dry, teasing cough; unsteady appetite; sometimes sour stomach, with a raising of the food; a bloated or full feeling about the stomach and sides; aggravating pains in the side, back, or breast, and about the shoulders; constipation of the bowels; piles, flatulence, coldness of the extremities, etc.

KOSKOO!

Is a remedy of Wonderful Efficacy in the cure of diseases of the Kidneys and Bladder. In these Affections it is as near a specific as any remedy can be. It does its work kindly, silently, and surely. The Relief which it affords is both certain and perceptible.

DISEASES OF THE KIDNEYS AND BLADDER.

Persons unacquainted with the structure and functions of the Kidneys can not estimate the importance of their healing action.

Regular and sufficient action of the Kidneys is as important, nay, even more so, than regularity of the bowels. The Kidneys remove from the Blood those effete matters which, if permitted to remain, would speedily destroy life. A total suspension of the urinary discharges will occasion death from thirty-six to forty-eight hours.

When the Urine is voided in small quantities at the time, or when there is a disposition to Urinate more frequently than natural, or when the Urine is high colored or reading with weakness in the small of the back, or between the shoulders, or other symptoms of Kidney Complaint, be taken at once to remedy the difficulty, before a lesion of the organs takes place. Most of the diseases of the Bladder arise from those of the Kidneys, the Urine being imperfectly secreted in the Kidneys, prove irritating to the bladder and Urinary passages. When we recollect that medicine never reaches the Kidneys through the general circulation of the Blood, we can how necessary is it to keep the Fountain of Life Pure.

KOSKOO!

Meets with GREAT SUCCESS in the CURE of

DISEASES OF THE NERVOUS SYSTEM,

Almost nine-tenths of our people suffer from nervous exhaustion, and are, therefore, liable to its concomitant evils of mental depression, confused ideas, softening of the brain, insanity, and complete breaking down of the general health. Thousands are suffering to-day with broken-down nervous systems, and, unfortunately, tobacco, alcohol, late hours, over-work (mental and physical), are causing diseases of the nervous system to increase at a fearful rate.

The symptoms to which diseases of the nervous system give rise, may be stated as follows:

A dull, heavy feeling in the head, sometimes severe loss towards pain or headache; Periodical Headache, Dizziness, Noises or Ringing in the Head; Confusion of Ideas; Temporary Loss of Memory; Dejection of Spirits; Starting during Sleep; Bad Dreams; Hesitation in Answering Questions; Dullness of Hearing; Twitching of the Face and Arms, etc., which, if not promptly treated, lead to Paralysis, Delirium, Insanity, Impotency, Apoplexy, etc., etc.
